President's Report

By Nigel Dutton

It would have been great to get away from the Perth winter for a while this month and be playing at the ANC in Darwin. However, it was not to be and so I will wish all of our teams the best of luck knowing they will be doing their best to represent WA. During the ANC, and when lots of our top players are away, BAWA conducts the State Handicap Pairs; 3 Monday evening beginning July 9 at the Nedlands Bridge Club. The director has been instructed to be generous with the handicaps and ensure that everybody has a good chance of winning. Why not come along and have a go, if you have never played in a BAWA State Event before you can play for free. Enter via the BAWA web site.

Congratulations to John Aquino and his team for a superbly organised Western Senior Pairs which was held recently at the WABC. Once again the whole weekend ran smoothly and by all accounts was enjoyed by all the players. Unfortunately for BAWA John had agreed to organise the event prior to his successful application for the position of BAWA Executive Officer. The workload of the EO is quite substantial so John has, reluctantly, relinquished the role of Tournament Organiser for the Western Seniors. If you are interested in picking up the reins of this event I, or John would be delighted to hear from you.

Have a look at our BAWA web site, or even in this Focus, at the great new prize structure for the Bunbury congress. The Bunbury organising committee have come up with some innovative ideas to give more players the opportunity to win prizes. The best idea, I thought, was to have prizes for players with less than 100 masterpoints and for players with less than 300 masterpoints. It seems to have worked – there is only about 6 tables left in the pairs.

ANC Darwin

The Bridge players of Western Australia Congratulate the Open, Women's, Seniors and Youth teams representing WA at the Australian National Bridge Championships being held this month in Darwin.

We wish you every success

Fremantle Bridge Club Inc.

From John Penman

Since the last edition of Bridge Focus I am happy to report that Fremantle has held its first Congress for a number of years. As John Beddows, wearing his BAWA hat, stated at the prize giving, Fremantle Bridge Club is back in the bridge community of Western Australia. It was a full day with the bridge complemented by some excellent food and continuous teas provided by some of our hard working ladies.

The Convenor for the event was Dave Parham and the Director was Peter Holloway and it was through their organisation and directing that the event was the success we believe it was.

Paula Sanders (lower left); Danny Mistry, John Down and Viv Goldsmith (centre) and Dorothy Stevenson and Wendy Ryan (lower right).

Social interaction and meeting people is important after retirement- when the social contact that comes with being in the workforce is gone. Bridge is surely one of the best ways of keeping on doing this.

Recently three of our more senior members - in order of age - John Down 97, Paula Sanders 90 and Dorothy Stevenson 80 celebrated their respective birthdays.

John, also a member of the Applecross RSL and a life member of the Australian Ballet Company and plays the piano beautifully. Dorothy, our much respected and hardworking Vice President, walks her dog each morning. While Paula, a retired bridge director and teacher and a past President of our club, is sprightlier than many others half her age.

As our President Danny Mistry said "We are indeed fortunate to be inspired by such remarkable people."

Congratulations to the winners of our annual Handicap Pairs – Dorothy Kitching Trophy.

First place: Kim Yap and Verona Sleeman.
Second Place: Suzanne Goodall and Marty Goodall.
Third place: Noel Daniel and Merwyn Menezes.

Lotterywest Grants at work in Your Community

Members play in cool comfort
 The Melbrie Bridge Club is about to reach more than playing cards - it's a chance for members to catch up with old friends and make new ones. A recent grant for air conditioning for the club means members can gather in comfort, whatever the weather. Social clubs encourage seniors to stay connected and active in their communities.

Spreading the buzz
 Promoting the fun and benefits of lockdown and honey is what the Western Australian Ajarists' Society is all about. Support for website development and equipment will mean the society can show a working hive and how busy is made at public events. A healthy number of hive help pollinate local plants and maintain a balanced ecosystem.

Raise your voices
 A Capella West was formed in 2006 and just a few years later the choir is in regular demand to perform at major public events. A grant for new costumes will mean its 40 female performers will be dressed in style to sing their beautiful harmonies. The choir regularly performs for free at community events, allowing everyone to enjoy their love of music.

It has been pleasing to see a large number of UNDERCROFT members taking part in outside events. At the Western Seniors our club was represented by sixteen pairs with two of these finishing in the top ten.

On June 10 Fremantle Club ran a fantastic one day Congress and nine Undercroft pairs attended. Christine Jenkins and Domenico De Gasperis won the final, with Frances Thompson and Ken Smith winning the Consolation. Everyone who attended had a most enjoyable day.

Thank you Fremantle!

Bridge education at Undercroft continues to grow and we are looking at expanding our program to cater for the large number of "intermediate players".

Recently another 20 participants graduated from Leslie Routledge's introductory class and are now continuing their bridge journey with Allan Doig.

Geraldton Bridge Club Congress

From Linda Bedford-Brown

After a 20 year hiatus Geraldton Bridge Club members welcomed visitors to their Congress with all the resplendent hospitality that an event could offer. President and Tournament Organiser Maureen Knight, Vice President Bob Scolaro and Committee were well organised and the members provided delicious delicacies continuously. Even to the point that visitors leaving at Sunday lunch time for the trip home were afforded a complimentary roll of their choice to take with them on their journey. This was a very much appreciated gesture.

Director Peter Holloway, Floor helper Bryan Baldock and "caddy" Di Brooks were a great team without a glitch.

Many of the members played with partners and team mates that they had previously not played with before – a great rally of camaraderie for the weekend!

Di Brooks wrote about Billeting players (Focus May 2012) and Robin and I were most fortunate to have the hospitality of Past President Jean Culloton. A most gracious lady, Jean supports and assists many Geraldton organisations and is a fountain of knowledge on Geraldton. We had a marvellous time Jean, thank you.

Norma Lodge must lay claim to organising what I believe is the only Bridge 'event' in the world. Every Saturday morning, live on the radio station, on the sports section Norma reads the weekly bridge results of the Geraldton Bridge Club. What a coup!

Geraldton Bridge Club is to be congratulated on a fine Congress, fine food, fine fellowship and we will all be there next year.

Life in the Slow Lane

By Di Brooks

We've been in our new house nine months now. Our priority was to establish the garden, which we have done. The jarrah bird table, built by my friend, Colin, is the place of the early morning feeding frenzy of the parrots. Farmers and gardeners alike, loathe the appearance of these birds, whereas Alan and I can never get over the excitement of having these performers on our doorstep. Locals have warned us of the destruction that the fine feathered friends can wreak on fruit trees and rose bushes, but so far, so good. Touch Wood. Our two year old Staffy pup, Taffy, keeps any invaders from getting too near our flower beds.

As we sit and enjoy the peacefulness, Kookaburras resting in the gum trees, laugh at everybody. The Willy Wagtail has no fear of anyone. The occasional predator hovering over head, waiting to dive down and get it's feed for the day, is soon sent packing by two or three magpies that guard the estate.

On our morning walks, we often see the kangaroos nibbling at the fresh grass shoots. The alpha male keeps a watchful eye, especially on those out with their dogs. If the roos are startled, it doesn't take a second for them to hop off into the bush and vanish from our sight.

Grass parrots, just a tad bigger than a budgie, green in colour, forage through the long grasses. You can hear their gentle calling, but you have a job to actually focus on them. Their group increases each day. At last count, there are twenty of them.

Once the rains come in, certain fields become lakes. This attracts the wading birds. It is a regular occurrence to see flocks of Ibis, ducks, geese and black swans, circling overhead before landing so they can wade through the waters.

Butterflies have laid their eggs, as our broccoli will attest. They, like the native bee, leave a lacy pattern on the plants. The caterpillars are ignored. The Butcher birds seek out their prey and as long as the insects are well camouflaged, they will hatch out to fly another season. One such creature was found lying under the Sweet Potatoes. A huge caterpillar by any standards, its outer covering was greyish brown, with white lines intermittently down it's sides. If it was resting on a tree trunk, you would never see it. How wonderful is Nature.

The winter rains bring the countryside to its best. Alan and I enjoy a game of "I Spy" as we walk or drive through the S.W. Life is not so hectic. At last, we have found our piece of Paradise. (Recently, in Perth for the Western Seniors, someone told me their place of heaven was two minutes from WABC. Whatever turns you on) But for us, we call Australia home and Capel is, for the want of too many words, "The Bees Knees".

.....Back to Bridge

Improving Your Partnership

How many of you actually sit down with your partner and discuss the previous sessions performance? Well, if you answer in the negative..... you are missing the opportunity to consolidate your system and delete habitual mistakes. So here's some good advice:-

At the end of the session, each of you will need a copy of the hand record. Next step is to ask the director to print out your personal record of the session. (This shouldn't be a hassle to the Director. Just smile sweetly. If all else fails... say... Di Brooks suggested this would help our bridge play techniques) ;o)

With this vital information at hand, you can see immediately where you scored a poor percentage. By comparing this against the hand record, you might be able to pinpoint the area which you need to work upon.

The final step would be to access the Website of your Club, click on the "Results", "Session", then go to "Full Results". On this page, you can see board by board what the rest of the field did. Now you can earmark whether the poor score came from play as Defence or Declarer, or actually in

The match ended up in our favour 16-14. Well done to Kay and Rita. It was a tight match but very enjoyable.

Round 3 - We faced Jo White and Neville Koenig. Hand 13 was our biggest score on the match as we bid and made 6H. Both N and S hands were massive. You couldn't help but bid the 6H. Those who bid 6NT were headed for disaster. Why people risk No Trumps, when you have a trump fit I find amazing.

As Declarer, you need to plan the play. Look to see what losers you have and then form a plan to deal with the losers. I took advantage of the singleton club in Dummy, after cashing the Club Ace, trumping 2 clubs, and then I could afford to cash the Ace of Spades and take out trumps. Nice to know the Heart Queen was on the wrong side and 12 tricks were brought in, giving us 14 Imps.

The moral to this story, if you have a trump fit, don't be greedy going to No Trumps, it could cost you big time.

Sitting East-West, we had a chance to shine by bidding 6♠. Playing Benjaminised Acol, I opened the East hand 2♦ and John responded 2♥ negative. Now what? I really detest 4-4-4-1 hands, especially the really strong ones. If one rebids 2♠, partner will place you with a 5 card suit. Had I rebid 2♠, I have little doubt we would have had a crack at slam. But I decided instead to rebid 2NT and to treat the hand as balanced. John now bid 3♥ (transfer) and despite my super-accepting with 4♠, he was not tempted to continue... +680 and another failure in the slam zone although this one did not cost us IMPs as only two pairs bid slam (and both failed to make it). There was another consolation... if I had played in 6♠; I would no doubt have mucked up the play. It was that sort of weekend for us!

Improving Your Defence

From Hugh Grosvenor

hugh.grosvenor@gmail.com

On average you will defend about half of the hands of bridge that you play. Clearly improving your partnership's defensive performance is one of the keys to improving your results. Two recent books in the Master Bridge Series are invaluable tools for aspiring players and partnerships.

Deadly Defence and The Deadly Defence Quiz Book by Wladyslaw Izdebski, Roman Krzemien and Ron Klingner provide a clear and accessible guide to all facets of expert defence. The authors outline a comprehensive system of leads and signals and define the situations where different carding agreements apply. Both books approach the issues in a practical rather than a theoretical way.

In addition to covering many standard areas of defensive signalling the authors present a number of new ideas about signalling in specific circumstances. For example you open a weak 2 bid in hearts with a suit of KQT852 and the opponent's bid to 4S. Partner leads the HA and dummy has J63. You obviously have a wide choice of cards to play – what do they mean? Despite 30 years of concentrated bridge I must admit that this common situation had never been a subject of clear agreement with any of my partners. The books suggest:

The 2 (low card) is suit preference for the lower suit i.e. clubs.

The Q (high card) is suit preference for the higher suit i.e. diamonds.

The 8 (middle card) is encouraging a heart continuation.

In this case the K would show KQT and would also presumably encourage a heart continuation.

The books discuss and define various other situations where suit preferences signals should apply such as when there is a singleton in dummy and following suit in trumps.

I particularly liked the chapter of obligatory false cards that shows more than 60 examples of false cards that you need to play to give declarer a losing option. For example:

	AJ8x
Kx		T9x
	Qxxx

South the declarer plays a small card to dummy's J. If you thoughtlessly play low declarer has no option but to play the A next dropping partner's K. If you play the T or 9 under the J declarer may think that you have T9 doubleton and cross back to hand and play the Q. Obviously this will not always work but it is the only hope.

There are lots of problems and examples – particularly in the quiz book logically enough. If you want to improve your defence these books are must-see. George Bilski the captain of last year's Australian Open Team was so impressed by these books that he organised a discount for all team members who wanted to buy one.

All I Ask (anon)

From Derek Pocock

I will go down to the Club again, to the Club where play runs high,
And all I ask is a pack of cards and a lamp to deal them by,
And three good fellows there with me, of temper stable,
And a stiff fight, and a keen fight, around the table.

I will go down to the Club again, for I hear the temptress call-
She whose lure is a wintry smile, that betrays us all ;
Who smites us hardest when hopes run high ; who derides or troubles ;
Who brings to naught the surest slams, and the safest doubles.

I will go down to the Club again, to the clash of tempered steel,
To the thrust and parry and counter- thrust of each hard contested deal ;
The beleaguered fortress, fiercely stormed, bravely defended-
And no post-mortems, and no regrets, when the rubber's ended.

The Common Thread

The following two deals were played in a Butler event in Victoria in 2005. They involve a common thread – see if you can find it

West, fooled by the 5♣ cue-bid, led a diamond. Declarer won that and sportingly played ♣J, offering the defence their club ruff. East didn't shoot the sitting duck, but found a duck of her own. The final outcome was 1430 to North-South, for 13 imps.

Second deal, with N/S the top seeded pair in the event:

This time there was no excitement in the play. Declarer ruffed a heart for 12 tricks and a 10 imp gain - as no other pair had bid the slam.

At the end of the deal, West disgustedly said: "of all the pairs to play this hand against, we had to pick the one who was able to bid this slam!"

That is certainly a factor in Butler Pairs. To win such events, you usually need to play the right hands against the right pairs.

Anyway, look over the two deals again and tell me: what is the common thread?

The answer is this: whilst both East-West pairs were unfortunate to lose a slam swing, the two over callers brought misfortune upon themselves by failing to pre-empt.

On the first exhibit, a nine-card suit needs more than a simple overcall. West should have bid 4♦ at her first turn. Where would that have left North? With little alternative but to raise to 4♥, and East-West would have achieved an average board.

On the second exhibit, if East doesn't have a natural pre-emptive 2♥ available to him, then he should change his system. With a decent 6-card suit, he need look no further than 2♥. South would have bid 3♣, North given a 3♥ cue-raise, and now South is end played into 3NT, like the rest of the field.

Both overcalling hands conform to the rule of 2-and-3 for a pre-emptive bid. The first hand, vulnerable, has 5 losers, so 4♦ should be safe enough. The second hand, non-vulnerable, has about 7½ losers, ample for 2♥.

Australian bridge players (and I suspect players from around the world) don't pre-empt enough.

Bidding Boldly at the Western Seniors Pairs

from Noelene Law

Like me, I think my partner Annabel Booth must have been subjected to the study of Chaucer at school and taken on board his adage, "Nothing ventured, nothing gained".

I felt some sympathy for our opposition in round 7 of the WSP, as after a catastrophic

Round 6, Annabel was in the mood to be aggressive and take every opportunity to pick up as many imps as possible.

With no helpful bidding from me, apart from a club fit, Annabel sailed into 4♠ for 9 imps. Although deep finesse indicates East can make 5♠ I recall that she lost 2 top trumps and a club. Only 9 pairs made this contract, 9 went down in 4♠, 14 played in a spade part score while a couple of north south pairs played in heart contracts.

In the same set Board 6 also yielded 9 imps:

(1) 2♠ = 5♠ and 5 of another: less than opening hand

A very aggressive opening by Annabel considering the vulnerability - just as well she was sitting East! Naturally, I had no hesitation in jumping straight to game. The K♣ was led and the other losers were of course the A♥ and a trump.

12 pairs bid and made the game whilst 7 went down and 3 were pushed to 5♠x. 6 pairs sacrificed in 5♣ or 6♣ with only 3 of them doubled. If East doesn't open, South is likely to bid 3♣ NV followed by a double from West and then the bidding battle begins.

Board 10 saw Annabel make a very difficult 3NT for an 11 imp gain with only 9 pairs making.

Of course, after my partner's Herculean effort I felt obliged to buy the drinks!

A Tropical Paradise

Barrier Reef Congress

From The Senior Serpent

The West was represented with pride at the annual Barrier Reef Congress in Cairns 8th to 11th June. Richard Fox did consistently well with his scratch Partner and Teammates while Tirza Cohen, Florence Maltby, and Bruce Maguire had wins at Walk-Ins and a very creditable Teams performance.

It was at the penultimate round in the rarified atmosphere of Table 4 that Tirza rose to the occasion against regular members of Australian Teams. Despite clashing with the Victor Champion in Melbourne, there was a league of legends enjoying the tropics; dashing any brief hope of the big prize money.

West dealt and opened 1♥.

At our Table, N doubled for T/O. After 4♥ from East, 4♠ by South closed the auction. West led ♥A, ruffed on Table with ♠5. Declarer then called ♦A followed by ♦Q taken by East's King.

With a view to killing one of North's Diamond winners, East returned the suit.

South now chose to dispose of a Club loser, discarding ♣6 from hand. The Senior Serpent struck venomously with the ruff and shot back the "top of nothing" ♣9. Declarer took the ♣A on Table, continued with the ♣3, ruffing low in hand. A Heart was ruffed on Table, followed by ♠A and a small ♣ ruffed in hand. South cleared trumps and conceded a Heart; 4♠ made;

"Phew!" exclaimed Declarer.

At the other Table Bruce Maguire was North, making a barrage bid to indicate the Minor Suits. After 4♥ from East Tirza Cohen in the South seat deduced that North probably had no Hearts at all. So; far from sacrificing 4♠ on her 5 points and 6-3-2-2 might have a good play. "So I put her into Slam", quoth the impish North in the score-up later.

The play proceeded as at the other Table up to trick 4. Instead of pitching the illusory Club loser, Tirza ruffed high in hand, Spade to the Ace, ♠J overtaken to clear trumps. Declarer took the marked ♣ finesse (East has shown ♦K and probably a top Heart honour), cashed the ♣A and the remaining high Diamonds on Table discarding Hearts from hand.

A Pyrrhic victory but slam was made;

"Phew!" exclaimed Declarer.

Sabine Auken, Zia Mahmood, Catherine D'Ovidio and Paul Chemla won the final of the 2004 Transnational Mixed Teams easily by 173-82 against a Bulgarian team. On this deal Auken – Mahmood defended a hand five tricks better than their counterparts:

Both tables played in 2NT. At the other table West led a low spade and Chemla made ten tricks. Here Sabine Auken led the SA and Zia played S2, indicating an odd number. Auken next cashed the HA and SK, crashing South's SQ, and played a third spade to East's jack. Now East led the H10 through South's HJ-8. East-West thus scored five spades and three hearts. Whereas 2NT had made with two overtricks at the other table, Auken's defence had defeated declarer by three tricks.

ROVING RHODES

Frolicking at Fremantle

By Maura Rhodes
rhodesfamily@westnet.com.au

Sunday, June 10th was a historic day for the bridge community with the resurrection of the Fremantle Bridge Congress. This was always a popular Congress, but was temporarily suspended for a number of years. The delight which its revival was met with can be seen by the fact that it filled quickly, although it was a shame that some pairs failed to show up, when other potential players couldn't get in. It was held at the excellent venue of the Freemasons Hall and was expertly convened by Dave Parham.

Fiske Warren and I came second in the Final, but if I had played better, we could have won. Here is a hand where careless play cost tricks!

The Final was a Howell movement and in this hand we sat E/W and I was East. South declared in 2S after the auction:

Fiske led the 5S, as the trump lead is the recommended lead when Declarer has shown two suits and the person on lead has strength in the second suit. Declarer won and played the Ten of Clubs. What should East do? Hold up, of course, but this silly East took the Ace and returned a trump. That was a seriously bad play. Why win the Club Ace? It is not going away and if Declarer has a 5/5 hand in the reds, with a singleton Heart, then he has no entries to dummy. Did I think that out? No, instead I won robotically. If I hold up, Declarer can never enter dummy to enjoy his clubs and must lose 5 tricks. Instead, thanks to me, he won ten tricks giving us a bottom board. That combined with several other errors, cost us the win. Congratulations to Christine Jenkins and Domenico de Gasperis who had a convincing win, both in the morning and in the Final. Congratulations too to the Fremantle Bridge Club for reinstating their Congress and I hope it will become an annual event again.

Western Seniors Pairs

By Anton Pol

This year, Western Seniors was once again held at WABC; thank you WABC for making your splendid premises available. The field was not as large as last year and there were few interstate pairs, but it was still respectable with 68 pairs and nine 12-board matches played over two days.

This means 108 boards with lots of interesting hands, but not many slams. Cynthia and I had only three opportunities to bid a slam. The first came in the very first match, board 5:

Brd 5	♠ A9762		♠ KQJ4
Dlr N	♥ -		♥ QJ632
Vul NS	♦ KQJ864		♦ A9

As North, with only four losers, I qualified this hand as a strong 2-suiter and opened 2NT, which in our system meant two non-touching suits, weak or strong, or a flat 27-28HCP monster. East doubled and Cynthia bid a pass or correct 3C. Pass from West and 3S from me showing strong D/S 2-suiter. Cynthia now liked her hand and bid 4D minor key-card ask; I showed three key cards and Cynthia ventured 6D.

The opening lead was KS. You need a bit of luck to make six. Clubs must be the solution. I played KD at trick two. AD from West and now was an interesting moment. If West plays another spade, dummy has to ruff and the communication with clubs is broken if either opponent holds three clubs to the Jack. Fortunately I was spared that anxiety as West led QH – not unreasonably attacking the AH entry to the dummy.

I was a bit surprised that only one other pair bid 6D. Whether it is a good slam or bad, that's another question, but in order to get there South must be informed as early as possible that North has big playing strength, otherwise opponents' interventions will make it very difficult for S to push on.

The other two slams happened in Round 4. The one in Board 15 was more interesting:

Brd 15	♠ 93		♠ AK8765
Dlr S	♥ 643		♥ -
Vul NS	♦ Q932		♦ K5
	♣ J974		♣ QT652
	♠ QT	<table border="1" style="border-collapse: collapse; width: 40px; height: 40px; margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S

	♦ J76
	♣ K83

18		12

Our somewhat weird bidding landed us in 6H (played by only one other pair), much less popular than 6S (played 8 times). As West I started with 2H, which included an Acoll 2 option, Cynthia bid forcing 2NT, I confirmed strong hand by bidding 3H, she responded 3S, cue-bid 4C from me, 4D from Cynthia, 4NT key card ask (in H), 5C showing 1, and 6H from me. The play is easy as long as spades break 3-2.

Playing 6S required a little more attention. Indeed, out of 17 pairs in a spade contract (4S or 6S), 7 pairs made only 11 tricks. One way of making 6S safely after say the least friendly club lead, is to lead JH from dummy and give it away to the queen. The rest is yours.

Deep Finesse says you can make 13 tricks but it requires some rather extreme play: win the first lead in dummy, then ruff a small heart in your hand, enter the table finessing 10S, ruff another heart, cross to SQ, ruff another heart, draw the remaining spade and cross to dummy with a remaining entry. Could not see any other way, maybe you can...

The Times Bridge: Common Mistakes & How to Avoid them

Bridge: What Should Have Happened More Common Mistakes & how to avoid them
Andrew Robson
Self published 2009

This is another book from the pen of The Times Bridge Columnist, Andrew Robson. Andrew writes a weekly Friday bridge column in the Times newspaper and this book follows on from an earlier book titled Bridge: Common Mistakes and How to Avoid them.

In this book Andrew devotes one page to a single Deal and the layout of the page is standard for all Deals.

Typically the introductory section to the Deal will give or reiterate some theory related which may help do the right things on the Deal.

The deal is then shown in the centre of the page.

On the left side of the Deal there is discussion how the deal was bid in play

Followed by What happened in play.

On the right side a section on How the Deal should have been bid.

And a section on What should have happened in play.

Then all of this is topped off with a handy nugget of bridge wisdom. For Deal 1 the nugget is: If you remember just one thing The Rule of 20.

The book has some 251 deals in total and covers a wide range of common mistakes. Any intermediate player would own many of these mistakes. What Robson does with amazing clarity of written expression is to pinpoint precisely the mistake being made and its remedy.

The book has four sections covering Bidding essentials, Declarer Plays, Defence and Progressing the Bidding.

And perhaps unusual for such a book there are far more deals given in the Basic Bidding and Defence sections. Mistakes in Defence do not seem to attract the same degree of attention as is given to Declarer Play so I'm pleased the Defence section had over 80 deals covering Opening leads, Second and Third hand plays, Signals and Discards etc.

The diagrams are clear and there is judicious use of bold type to emphasise the cards in bidding and play.

Being English based the Acol system is used throughout but in one instance Robson advocates opening 1NT with a five card major. This conflicts with the way I play NT with 5 card majors. His argument for such is that when you open and repeat the suit you almost certainly have six cards. Is that enough justification for always opening the 1NT 5332 irrespective of majors. I don't know.

The book is suited for study by all Intermediate players and is highly recommended for its clarity of thought and readability.

It is a self-published book obtained from Andrew Robson's website. I was pleasantly surprised with the overall cost and delivery, being less than $30AUD for this Hard Cover bound book.

Floriade 2012 - Velno, Holland

By Beata Bieganski

The Floriade is an amazing horticultural World Expo that occurs every ten years in the Netherlands. People arrive from all over the world to marvel at themed hectares of plant-life, garden art and horticultural innovation. It runs from April all the way through October. This year, the Floriade is being held in Venlo and the main theme is "be part of the theatre in nature; get closer to the quality of life,". It features 66 hectares (of which 40 hectares is actual exhibition site) on five sub-themes: Environment, Green Engine, Relax & Heal, Education & Innovation, and World Show Stage. Each world has its own decor, programme and activities.

But the most amazing walk that I've experienced was through the Villa Flora building: 'theatre of nature' also called 'the greenest office in the Netherlands'. Designed specially for Floriade 2012, the ultra-sustainable building is home to the biggest indoor flower show.

Being in the province of Limburg I've also visited Maastricht, widely known as a city of history and culture, and home of the most beautiful bookstore: Selexyz Dominicanen.

The bookstore is located in the ancient Dominican church believed to be already more than 800 year old. The beauty and the charm of the church created centuries ago are still in tact. In 2008, 'The Guardian' called it "the best bookstore in the world."

PS. In Australia -we also have Floriade Flower Festival in Canberra (also called Canberra's Spring Flower Festival) held for a month, usually from around the second weekend of September to the October. This is an annual event featuring vast expanses of flowering plants, floral art, horticultural displays and practical tips and advice on home gardening and outdoor living.
